

To Eat :: To Use

Prices are always down at this store. They have always been below the prevailing selling point. A general store that carries a heavy stock and sells everything can always make very close prices on anything you want. The large number of sales make small profits possible.

To eat, to use. Whatever you need in either line, it will actually pay you financially to come first to this store, where the stock is large, of the best and prices always at low water mark.
